HUME NETWORKS & EVENTS 2020

Connected and Committed is a guide to key networks and events for those who work with children, young people and their families in Hume City. It is not a service directory, but rather a go-to guide containing contact details of network conveners and a calendar of meeting dates and events.

Get involved in your local network

Through these networks you can:

- Meet other workers
- Share knowledge and resources
- Form partnerships and joint projects
- Coordinate services and plan for the future
- Discuss funding opportunities and work together to ensure funds come to Hume
- Advocate for common areas of need
- Access professional skills development
- Be inspired, be inspiring, be supported and be celebrated!

Get involved in local events

Partnering with other organisations adds value to events such as Volunteer Expo's, Refugee Week, Youth Week, Universal Children's Day, Community Safety Month or Week Without Violence. In the calendar you will find events that provide opportunity to:

- Refer your colleagues, clients, families
- Partner with other services
- Promote your service
- Run an activity for children, youth, families, specific cohorts
- Provide organisation brochures
- Conduct surveys

Know of a network that's not listed here? Contact Karla Collrick karlac@hume.vic.gov.au to be included.

All meetings and events are held on the land of the Wurundjeri people – the traditional custodians of Hume area

ABORIGINAL CHILDREN, YOUTH AND FAMILIES

HUME ABORIGINAL PARTNERSHIP

Network focus:	Strategic, service planning, partnerships
Who should attend:	Anyone working with Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander families, or community members
Meets:	Contact Kelly Brand on the details below

The network aims to provide a coordinated, integrated approach of working with children and their families, broader community members, local Aboriginal networks and mainstream services. It is part of the Best Start program in Hume and works closely with a wide range of local organisations in Hume.

The Network is based on the principles of respect, commitment, collaboration and accountability in order to improve the health, wellbeing, and education and lifestyle outcomes for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people.

The Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Network is a commitment between services (government, non-government, community, business and philanthropic) to work together in partnership, so that resources and expertise can most effectively be harnessed. The network supports Aboriginal families with children 0-18 years in accessing mainstream and Aboriginal specific programs and services including childcare, financial inclusion programs and in seeking access to work and study.

Membership is open to all who support the goals of the network, and who have a commitment to the Aboriginal Community in Hume. The Hume Aboriginal & Torres Strait Islander Network welcomes all Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people who live, work or have an association with Hume and representatives of mainstream and Aboriginal agencies with commitment to the learning, development, health and wellbeing of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander children and their families in Hume.
